*Try to express an outcome as an infinitive phrase that concludes this sentence: At the end of the course, the students should be able to . . . Finding the line between too general and too specific can be difficult. In an English Composition course, for instance, it is probably too general to say, 'The student should be able to write effective essays.' It is probably too specific to say, 'The student should be able to write an introductory paragraph of at least 50 words, containing an attention-getting device, an announcement of the narrowed topic, and an explicit thesis sentence.' Just right might read, 'The student will write introductions that gather attention and focus the essay.'

Indicate the Core Competencies that apply to the outcomes, activities, and assessment tools: Critical Thinking (CT); technology skills (TS); oral communications (OC); quantitative skills (QS); reading (R); writing (W).
