OUTCOMES BASED LEARNING MATRIX

Course: Reading for ESL	ENSL111	Department: Modern Languages

At the end of the course, students should be able to

Students and faculty will participate in

Faculty will evaluate

*COURSE OUTCOMES	OUTCOMES ACTIVITIES	ASSESSMENT TOOLS
1. Students will demonstrate facility in reading standard English materials of varying length and complexity, such as newspaper and journal articles, essays, poems, and other literary forms, other academic readings, and perhaps a novel.	Students read a variety of selections They practice making connections between these selections and other knowledge they possess or are acquiring They practice summarizing these selections They research different points of view on selected topics They develop and articulate a point of view on selected topics (CT, R, W, OC)	Classroom exercises on the reading content Completion of assignments and projects on summarizing Completion of journals to self-assess progress
2, Students will demonstrate fluency in reading by acquiring more sophisticated vocabulary and by developing proficiency in the use of stems, prefixes, suffixes, and context clues.	Students will study and practice vocabulary through exercises aimed at identifying stems, prefixes, and suffixes Students will do exercises in identifying context clues. (CT, R, W, OC)	Written exercises on vocabulary Vocabulary exams Activities on context clues
3. Students will effectively utilize reading skills, such as following directions, skimming, scanning, predicting, identifying main and supporting ideas, and	Students will complete • classroom activities on following directions • classroom activities on skimming, scanning, and predicting	Assignments and projects on identifying main and supporting ideas Assignments and projects on taking notes

taking notes	• homework and classroom activities on identifying main and supporting ideas • homework and classroom activities on taking notes (CT, R, W, OC)
4. Students will become familiar with some techniques of literary analysis	Students will examine selected literary passages for analysis of such subjects as point of view, style, tone (CT, R, W, OC)	Assignments and projects on literary analysis